

CHLOE ANDREA

Chloe Andrea took to styling the moment she first encountered it seven years ago. With a background in fashion design and garment manufacturing, it was a natural evolution and she's been excelling in the industry ever since. Chloe is inspired by the world around her, art, colour, movement and music. She's a critical thinker, which feeds her work and strength as a creative director. To each project she brings a sensitivity of style and attention to detail. On set Chloe leads with initiative and her innate creative energy. Some of her career highlights include working in Nigeria, which she says opened her eyes to the beauty of African aesthetics, designing costumes for Wodumo, and styling for Tanzanian musician Alikibah The King in all-local designs for the SAMAs and spearheading a fashion-focus for the Luminance lifestyle magazine. Her work has been featured on Hunger TV, Fashion Gone Rogue, Cosmopolitan and Bleach.
